Egyptian Alabaster

A Distinctive Egyptian Stone with Natural Translucent Beauty

Egyptian Alabaster is a remarkable natural stone known for its warm tones, distinctive veining, and unique translucent appearance. Used in Egyptian architecture and decorative craftsmanship for centuries, alabaster brings an unmistakable sense of character and elegance to contemporary interiors and architectural features.

Its natural palette ranges from creamy white and ivory to honey, golden yellow, and warm amber tones, with each piece displaying its own unique patterns and variations.

Applications

Egyptian Alabaster is particularly suited for decorative and architectural applications, including:

- Feature walls
- Backlit wall panels
- Reception areas
- Decorative cladding
- Countertops and bar fronts
- Vanity tops
- Interior design features
- Columns and architectural elements
- Decorative objects
- Custom stone creations

The Beauty of Backlit Alabaster

One of the most distinctive characteristics of Egyptian Alabaster is its natural translucency.

When illuminated from behind, the stone reveals its internal patterns, colors, and natural veining, creating a warm and dramatic visual effect.

This makes alabaster an exceptional material for luxury hotels, restaurants, residences, reception areas, bars, and statement interior walls.

Available Finishes

At Nileox Stone, Egyptian Alabaster can be fabricated in different finishes depending on the design and application:

Polished | Honed | Brushed | Natural | Custom Finish

Custom fabrication and finishing are available according to project specifications.

Sizes & Custom Fabrication

Egyptian Alabaster can be supplied as slabs, tiles, panels, decorative pieces, and custom cut-to-size elements.

Dimensions, thicknesses, shapes, edge details, and finishes can be customized to meet specific architectural and interior design requirements.

Every Piece is Unique

The natural variations in color, translucency, veining, and pattern make every piece of Egyptian Alabaster distinctive.

From subtle ivory tones to rich honey and golden shades, the material can transform an ordinary surface into a unique architectural feature.

Natural Egyptian Alabaster. Designed to Stand Out.

Whether used as a dramatic backlit feature wall, decorative panel, countertop, or custom architectural element, Egyptian Alabaster combines natural beauty with centuries of Egyptian stone craftsmanship.
